I. Introduction

Antioch University (“AU” or the “University”) has a legal and moral responsibility for the stewardship of its resources and for the public and private support it receives. The University’s policies, operating procedures and internal controls are intended to detect and to prevent or deter misuse of University resources and fraudulent, dishonest or illegal activities by an employee of the University. All employees of the University are encouraged to report suspected misuse of University resources and fraudulent, dishonest or illegal activities by University employees (i.e., to act as a “whistleblower”), pursuant to the procedures set forth below. It is the policy of the University to investigate all reports of suspected misuse of University resources and fraudulent, dishonest or illegal activities by employees of the University and to protect employees who, in good faith, report those activities to the appropriate University authority. University faculty, staff, students, or volunteers may not retaliate against an individual who has made a protected disclosure or who has refused to obey an illegal order. It is the intention of the University to take whatever action may be needed to prevent and correct activities that violate this policy.

II. Conflicts of Interest

In order to fully implement this policy, it is required that any employee who has the authority to sign contracts or has responsibility for the financial resources of the University shall adhere to the University's Conflict of Interest Policy and shall annually sign and submit the statement required under said policy to the Assistant Secretary of the University. This specifically includes, but is not limited to, all campus and central administration budget officers.

III. Definitions

7. Authorizing or receiving compensation for hours not worked;
8. Submitting fraudulent expense reports;
9. Any serious violation of University policy or a violation of applicable state or federal laws.

B. Protected Disclosure

Communication about actual or suspected wrongful conduct engaged in by a University employee, student, volunteer, agent, or contractor (who is not also the disclosing individual) based on a good faith and reasonable belief that the conduct has both occurred and is wrongful under applicable law and/or University policy is protected. Individuals who are aware of or have reason to suspect wrongful conduct should report the conduct to:

1. The disclosing individual’s supervisor, either verbally or in writing, or

C. Retaliation

Adverse action against individuals because they have made a protected disclosure or have participated in an investigation, proceeding or hearing involving a protected disclosure is retaliation and is prohibited.

VI. Whistleblower Protection and Non-Retaliation

AU will to protect whistleblowers against retaliation. Whistleblowing complaints will be handled with sensitivity, discretion, and confidentiality to the extent allowed by the circumstances and the law. Generally, this means that whistleblower complaints will only be shared with those who have a need to know so that the University can conduct an effective investigation, determine what action to take based on the results of any such investigation, and in appropriate cases, with law enforcement personnel. While confidentiality cannot be guaranteed, whistleblowers' identity shall not be disclosed unless they agree to be identified, identification is necessary to investigate or respond effectively to the report, identification is required by law, or identification is required in connection with the discipline or legal action resulting from the investigation of the whistleblower's report.

A. Employees of the University shall not retaliate against a whistleblower with the intent or effect of adversely affecting the terms or conditions of the whistleblower's employment, including but not limited to, threats of physical harm, loss of job, loss of promotion, punitive work assignments, or negative impact on the whistleblower's compensation or fringe benefits.

Allegations that are not substantiated yet are made in good faith are not subject to corrective action.
